Kicking off in Their Memory: A Soccer Tournament for Men Bereaved by Suicide

Please HELP Us Make It Happen

HUGG is the national suicide bereavement organisation.

While suicide grief can feel extremely isolating, it doesn't have to be faced alone. Finding connection with others who have experienced suicide loss can bring comfort, support, and hope. We provide practical information and resources, and emotional support through events, webinars and our telephone support line and nationwide suicide bereavement support groups led by trained volunteers with a lived experience of suicide loss.

We want to hold a special remembrance soccer tournament for men to honour their loved one who died by suicide, whether the loss is recent or many years past.

We are seeking volunteers to help us lead this unique once-off event.

1. Do you have an interest in soccer?
2. Have you connections at grassroots level which can help us?
3. Would you be willing to lead a light training session for all abilities?
