
Music Together (<https://www.activelink.ie/node/404>)

Music Together is a newly established voluntary group aiming to provide learner musicians who have a disability with an opportunity to perform in the wider community.

Music Together was set up in response to create opportunities for physically disabled people wishing to participate in high-quality creative activity in music and the performing arts.

Founded on the belief that it is a human right to have artistic tools at one's disposal, and inspired by principles of access and inclusivity, Music Together provides opportunities for people with physical disabilities, alongside non-disabled participants, to develop skills and ambitions in music and related performing arts. Furthermore, by continually striving for artistic excellence and showcasing best practice, Music Together aims to challenge public perception and improve public access to the work of disabled artists, thus paving the way for further integration into the arts community.
