TRADEMARK is an ethically based, not-for-profit organisation which works towards social change in which the principles of social justice, equality and pluralism are actively pursued.

We are an organisation committed to the pursuit of social justice through the tackling of oppressive and discriminatory practices and support for redistributive forms of equality.

We engage with a number of constituencies across the public / private and community / voluntary sectors delivering training, research and evaluation on a range of related themes including equality, human rights and peace and reconciliation.
